The rebels have withdrawn a large number of troops from Charleston to Savannah.

It is said that the Congressional Committee on the management of the war has approved Fremont's conduct, and that a new command will be assigned him.

ST. LOUIS, February 13.—A Fort Henry correspondent of the Republican says the late gunboat expedition on the Tennessee River was greeted everywhere with the wildest enthusiasm. Prominent men came to the boat and said should the Union army enter Tennessee, 50,000 men were ready and would shoulder arms at once. Officers of the gunboats say it is impossible to doubt the genuineness of such greetings.

The Nashville Union American, of February 5th, says that Beauregard, Pillow, and Cheatham are there. It also contains no objective ground as to what the former will do.

WASHINGTON, February 14. The Treasury Note bill, with the legal tender clause and the bill for the payment of interest of the gold bearing bonds, passed the Senate to-day, with an amendment depositing with the Treasury 25 per cent. of [illegible] This clears it entirely of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The House Committee on the District of Columbia reported to-day the bill abolishing slavery in the District, limiting compensation to loyal slaveholders to $500.

ROGUE'S MISS., February 11.—A messenger from Belmont reports that Steele's division had arrived at Malden, and that the whole force [illegible] Price was encamped about 10 miles from Dudley Creek.

News of February 11th.

CHICAGO, February 11, 11 A. M.—Advices from Fort Donelson to 12 o'clock last night say that 42 Federals were killed, and over 200 wounded. Those were killed in the 10th Connecticut Regiment, was shot at the head of his regiment. [illegible] of the 31st and the French Zouaves were also killed.

Among the prisoners are Lt.-Colonels, Lieutenant-Colonels and Majors.

Edenton, at the head of Albemarle Sound, was taken possession of by Burnside's troops on Wednesday. The rebels [illegible]

NEW YORK, February 11.—A special Washington despatch to the New York papers says the [illegible] organizing the Pilot Knob Railroad [illegible] ments will shortly be reported by the Committee of the two Houses.

It is probable that an important command [illegible] will be entrusted to Gen. Fremont. [illegible] son of this selection [illegible] will be exclusively his own.

Gen. Sherman, at [illegible] that Government shall take charge of [illegible] into its hands [illegible] cotton, employing [illegible] and keeping them under kind and strict [illegible] He also proposes that a suitable establishment be provided for as to give religious instruction.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11.—Official despatches were sent to-day to headquarters this morning as follows: The [illegible] in the [illegible] over 50 gunboats. There can be [illegible] treated after a short engagement, leaving a large amount of stores and ammunition, which were captured by General Curtis. Our cavalry are in close pursuit of the enemy.

FORTRESS MONROE, February 12.—A batch of despatches from Burnside's expedition arrived to-day with the main facts of the capture of Roanoke, all the rebel gunboats burned or captured, except two, which escaped.

The 21st, 25th and 27th Massachusetts regiments, the 9th and 51st New York, and the 10th Connecticut were particularly engaged. The 25th Massachusetts and 10th Connecticut suffered most severely. The fight lasted only about three hours, when the battery was dismounted, our troops crossed and surrounded the rebel camp, and took twenty-five whole companies prisoners.

Despatches from Memphis to Norfolk admit that the Federal flag was floated on the Tennessee river. They assert that the Federals neither seized nor destroyed any private property—not even cotton.

FORTRESS MONROE, Feb. 13th.—The Richmond Despatch says: Our Tennessee brethren give us gloomy prospects for the future. In that part of the Confederacy several leading journals intimate results that there is a lingering state of affairs in East Tennessee, growing out of the strong love of many of those people for the old Union.

Official despatches from Gen. Huger confirm entirely the reported success of the Federals on Roanoke Island, Elizabeth City and Edenton.

News of February 15.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15—1:14 P. M.—Despatches from Fort Donelson, of the evening of the 14th, have been received. The Fort was invested by the Federals. Heavy cannonading and skirmishing were going on all that day. It was estimated that there were within the breastworks 15,000 rebels. The fort will be stormed in two days, if not surrendered before then. Gens. Johnson, Floyd, Pillow, and Buckner are all said to be there. But one gunboat had arrived up to noon of the 13th. Others were expected hourly.

FORT DONELSON, February 14.—The fort is surrounded by high, steep hills, heavily wooded and protected by redoubts, trenches and rifle-pits.

The rebels gave battle from their entrenchments outside of the fort, but were driven in after a severe fight, with considerable loss on both sides. Our troops hold two of the rebel batteries outside of the fort. Our losses probably 45 killed and 300 wounded. 8,000 troops and four gunboats arrived last night.

The Cincinnati Commercial of yesterday has the following information from a trustworthy source: Gen. Buell's whole army was yesterday in motion upon the enemy. Gen. Nelson's division crossed Green river on Friday. On Saturday it was near Glasgow. Mitchell's whole command marched to Munfordville from Bacon creek, the centre of the rebels now being advance over the mountains south of Cumberland river, via Monticello, impracticable. The main body of Gen. Thomas's division had been ordered to move to Danville on the 11th.

Papers, said to have been captured at Fort Henry, show that Gen. Polk's force at Columbus is only 12,000 effective men, the remainder being on the sick list and worthless.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—A [illegible] says that Secretary Chase indicates a disposition to restore the salaries of the San Francisco custom house employees to the recent standard, substantially.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—An official report of Gen. Buell has been received at the War Department which corroborates the facts already telegraphed.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15.—The Inquirer has a despatch about Burnside's expedition. It says that the enemy was [illegible] several hours. Two completely regiments on the way to re-inforce the Fort were captured. Gov. Wise's son was shot through the lungs, and died on the following day.

The Assistant Secretary of the Navy has received private [illegible] in which is stated the number of killed, our Navy, side of the enemy, about 30.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 15.—Gen. Price evacuated Springfield on the night of the 12th. He is in full retreat southward, and our army in hot pursuit. It is reported that part of Gen. Hunter's forces are cutting off Price's retreat on the [illegible] No echo read. There is hardly a possibility of his escape.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—In the Senate to-day the case of Stark of Oregon was taken up but postponed till Thursday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—A special despatch to the New York papers says that the Committee on the Conduct of the War are examining to-day the case of Gen. Stone. New facts have been discovered, which divide the responsibility of the Ball's Bluff disaster between Stone and another General, whose name is not given.

Hamilton Fish and Bishop Ames have returned, the rebels having refused to receive them as Commissioners to receive the condition of the prisoners.

The Confederacy expressed their readiness to negotiate for a general exchange of prisoners. A Commissioner for the last negotiations, which resulted in perfect success, for equal exchange of prisoners was agreed on.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The gunboat Massachusetts, from Ship Island on the 4th inst., has arrived here with a valuable cargo of coffee and cotton, taken from prizes. The Niagara was cruising in Texas waters. The troops were in excellent health.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Naval Appropriation bill was considered in the House yesterday. An amendment appropriating $1,000,000 for building additional gunboats was adopted. Bill passed.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15—A. M.—A despatch from Fortress Monroe of the 14th inst. says: A Nashville telegram of the 12th says a despatch was received from Cumberland City this evening, stating that a Federal gunboat had appeared at Fort Donelson and opened fire on the fort without injuring it. The fort returned the fire and the gunboat retired. The Federals landed in force, and a battle with their light artillery commenced this morning.

NASHVILLE, Feb. 12.—A despatch from Fort Donelson, dated 11 this forenoon, says: Strong firing from artillery commenced at sunrise this morning, and had continued unceasingly at that time. The enemy keeps at a respectful distance. The field artillery is engaged all along the line.

NASHVILLE, Feb. 13—2:45 A. M.—The firing has ceased, probably owing to a desire of the enemy to change position. So far we have repulsed the enemy [illegible] every point. The Federal gunboats retired; we think [illegible] several have disabled.

A later despatch of the same day says: The day has not passed, and we still hold our own. The Federals will probably attack us to-morrow. Our [illegible] is not very great, while that of the enemy is heavy. We have repulsed them everywhere, and are fully satisfied that we have [illegible] their gunboats materially. Our lines are entrenched all around.

BEAUFORT, N. C., Feb. 13.—Edenton and Hertford, North Carolina, have both been occupied by the Federals.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 15.—[illegible] Louisville [illegible] match on Monday night 17th, [illegible] Bowling Green, compel Bardstown Gap, killing 15 [illegible] upon the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad [illegible]

News of February 17.

[illegible]

NEW YORK, Feb. 17th.—The steamer Munch this has arrived from Fort Donelson. She left there at 5 o'clock last evening. The upper Fort was taken at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The gunboats St. Louis, Louisville and Pittsburg are disabled. Most of the others were not in action. Pushed on their way up to Fort Donelson. All the gunboats were [illegible] Cumberland, except the Conestoga.

During the action a rifled gun on the Cincinnati burst, killing six men.

A gentleman who left Fort Donelson on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock says that the fight has been going on all day. He confirms the report that the right wing of the enemy's fortifications was taken.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17th.—[illegible] A. M.—Fort Donelson was taken on Sunday morning. Generals Johnson and Buckner with 15,000 men surrendered.

Floyd escaped with 5,000 men on Saturday night.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16.—Despatches received from headquarters say that all the gunboats were pretty effectually disabled except one. Commodore Foote was wounded in the leg, but not fatally. The upper redoubt of Fort Donelson has been taken by our troops.

Gen. Grant, commanding, telegraphed that he would be saddle to take the Fort to-day, (Sunday).

A special despatch to the St. Louis Democrat, says: Commodore Foote reached here at 12 o'clock last night on the gunboat Carondelet. He reached Fort Donelson on Friday afternoon, with the gunboats St. Louis, Louisville, Pittsburg, Carondelet, Tyler and Conestoga. After fighting a little over an hour, he withdrew. 54 men were killed and wounded on the boats. The St. Louis was hit sixty one times, the Louisville 57 times. The enemy's firing was very accurate.

The rebels had three batteries, one near the water, one 50 feet above this, and the third 50 feet above the second. The upper one mounted four 10-pounders. This one was held until the boats got within [illegible] of the Fort. Our fire was directed principally at the water batteries. One of the enemy's guns burst and [illegible] of others were dismounted. The enemy could be seen carrying their dead from the trenches.

Capt. Wood, of the steamer Minnehaha reports that the enemy made a sortie on Saturday morning from the fort, then drove our forces back three quarters of a mile, and captured Schwartz battery. At last accounts our troops had recovered the battery, drove the rebels before them, and planted our flag on the outer fortifications.

A steamer from Evansville [illegible] that four of our Colonels were killed in [illegible] he was Col. Logan.

The Illinois correspondent of the Democrat, says: More I saw at the fort, more I am convinced that it cannot be reduced without a terrible battle. Its [illegible] seems almost impregnable. The outer works and bastions of the fort are are located on ridges 150 and 250 feet high, covered with dense timber. On [illegible] hills outside of these our army is drawn up in line of battle, completely encircling the enemy from Cumberland, south of the fort to the back water of the stream which flanks the fort on the north.

Gen. Ogleby, who has the extreme right, last night pushed forward his brigade to the Cumberland, where he has planted a battery commanding the river, which will effectually prevent the arrival of any more reinforcements. In fact, we have them completely surrounded, and can complete the job at our leisure.

Considerable skirmishing occurred during Thursday night, but no engagements in the darkness occurred between each other.

On Friday morning it was discovered that the enemy had placed logs upon the top of their breastworks, leaving a little space for them to shoot through, much diminishing their risks from our sharp shooters.

The casualties among our artillery thus far are very small. The loss of the enemy so far as can be ascertained, is considerable.

Southern Oregon and northern California papers represent that many miners, and much stock and other provisions will go to the Oregon and Washington mines by the direct route to Fort Boise. They think that a good trade with the miners will be secured by opening that route.

Persons from Washington Territory are already in the market here for the purpose of buying cattle. Those who save their stock will make their pile within the next six months.

THE GREAT NEWS!

We have the most gratifying news from the East to-day for our readers on this anniversary of the birth of Washington. The backbone of the rebellion is broken, at all events, has been effectually broken! Iron Duke!

Gen. Burnside's [illegible] has captured Roanoke Island, with its forts and the [illegible] same privateers, also Elizabeth City, Edenton and their forts, and has taken or destroyed the whole rebel fleet in the Sound. The Richmond Enquirer [illegible] that it is the heaviest blow the Confederates have yet experienced.

The Richmond papers declared on the occasion that no hope remained unless the relief force was sustained in Kentucky, and the federals defeated in their advance from Cairo. Beauregard was sent from the Potomac with 15,000 troops to reinforce the rebels at Bowling Green. Troops were sent from thence to sustain Fort McHenry, on the Tennessee river, that fort was taken by Gen. Halleck's command; the rebels fled to Fort Donelson; the federal troops followed them, attacked the fort and compelled 15,000 rebels to lay down their arms! Floyd, the thief, stole off, and was ranging at the last dates somewhere with about 5,000 men.

Gen. Thomas has followed up his successes at Somerset, and with increased forces he is on his victorious way into Tennessee.

Our last news left Gen. Sherman advancing upon Savannah. We shall hear by next steamer, decisive news from that point.

In Missouri Price and his men are again on the run. We trust he will be followed.

Gen. Hunter is nearly ready to advance with an efficient army South, probably to cut off Price, or subdue Arkansas, and may be to proceed to Texas, where a federal army will soon be sent under Gen. Fremont.

We have no late news from the expedition to Ship Island, near the mouth of the Mississippi.

Gen. Butler is about moving from Boston with another expedition, probably to reinforce that on Ship Island.

Gen. Heintzelman is organizing still another expedition at New York for the South. Our Government, disarmed by traitors under Buchanan, has now fairly got to work.

Our foreign news is satisfactory. We have no faith in the sympathy of English rulers. But we have some reliance that she will not recklessly assume the consequences of war with the United States. We soon shall have an immense army at our command, and much of it unemployed; and we have now a navy with which we could sweep English commerce from the ocean. Ours would be likely to share the same fate, but that would not recompense the English nation for her losses. We want no war with England, and we do not believe we shall have one.

From France our news is favorable. "Napoleon" opened the French chambers on the 15th. He said that the civil war which desolates America has greatly compromised our commercial interests. So long, however, as the rights of neutrals are respected, we must confine ourselves to expressing wishes for an early termination of those dissensions."

The allies are not succeeding as expected in Mexico. France is sending more troops; while her troops there, suffering with the sickness peculiar to the climate are anxious to return. Mexico, it is said, will accept France and England as mediators to secure peace.

We notice in the news that the pestiferous sheet known as the Oregon Democrat, for its treasonable sentiments, will not be permited to go into the United States mails. The same measure should be meted out to other traitorous sheets of Oregon. While the power of the nation, and the blood of her loyal citizens is being poured like water upon the ground, in war with rebels and traitors, with Jeff. Davis and Beauregard at their head—their lying documents are quoted with approbation by those papers—the scoundrels are pronounced pure by them, and their documents worthy the admiration of our people; they raise the shout that Davis and Beauregard are the glory of our land, and pray to God that our national arms shall be paralyzed.—Government has its eyes open to the traitors of this fact, the editors of the papers referred to may be assured.

It seems to be a happy circumstance that while we are paying the homage to the virtues of the great patriots who, in past days, was a leading instrument in establishing our Government, in these troublous times we are permitted to rejoice that his countrymen are giving evidence that they will sustain the Union for which he, and other fathers of the Republic, fought at all times, at every hazard and cost.

SACRAMENTO STREET, BETWEEN MONTGOMERY and Kearny Streets, opposite the Post Office, SAN FRANCISCO.

ESTABLISHED IN 1854 FOR THE PERMANENT relief of those afflicted with SECRET DISEASES OR QUACKERY. All letters must be addressed to DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, Medical Director, San Francisco, California. With Diplomas from the Royal Universities of Pesth, Hungary, the Imperial University of Vienna, and the Royal University of Breslau, Prussia, Dr. Czapkay has had the honor to receive the first Premium for the Discovery and Practice of his System of Medicine, which stands unrivalled for the speedy, safe and permanent cure of Private Diseases of every description. Having had a practice of many years in the first hospitals of Europe, and during the last seven years in San Francisco, he has had the opportunity of treating more cases of Private Diseases than any other physician in the State. Dr. Czapkay's Medicines are purely vegetable, and contain no mercury or other mineral, and are entirely free from any unpleasant taste or smell. Persons at a distance can be cured at home by addressing Dr. Czapkay, and enclosing a remittance. Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, by express, with bill collected on delivery. Consultation free, and strictly confidential. Office hours from 9 A.M. to 4 P.M. Sundays excepted.
